When we boondock in the winter, we usually set the heater to around the mid fifties when we're sleeping, but that means it's fricking freezing in the morning. Sorry to revive an old topic, but I finally changed out my non-BT CT thermostat with the Bluetooth version. Let us know how you like the new stat, have been looking at them myself. Not sure if that is adjustable or not edit... Nothing for me was more useful than this other then my macerator pump. [Flame-suit] However, I kinda' view this one as the height of laziness. Open back for pull through wiring. Finger crossed. I too am having issues with the compressor short cycling once the set temperature is reached. Picked up two on Ebay for $58.98 with no tax and free shipping. Turn off thermostat and touch the up Arrow and Mode the same time until you get --- on the screen. 2014 Georgetown 351DS Charleston SC 1 Boston Terrier, 1 Frenchie, Two Siamese Gonna miss you Toby, Sage, and Izzie. I have heat strips in mine but I don't think I left the new thermostat in long enough to ever try it with the heat. I will double check the price and the one I quoted was the Capacitive touch without the Bluetooth. A thermostat with a schedule would be even better, but I don't think they make those for RV's do they? Just curious if this issue may be specific to the type of unit. 09-09-2018, 11:07 PM #16 Member Join Date: Dec 2017 Posts: 38 Quote: Originally Posted by SpringerPop I have a Nest thermostat in our home. I like the backlight feature most of all though. So when I wake up I usually hop out of bed and run into the front room to bump up the temp a few degrees, then hop back into bed to let it warm up a bit before officially getting up for the day. Please let me know where you found these new units for $27. The new bluetooth capable thermostat puts the extra convenience in camping! If you're outside grilling and need to crank the cold in the camper simply download the FREE Dometic Thermostat Control app from iTunes or the Google Play Store and you're ready to cool down with your Dometic Air Conditioner. At least with Bluetooth I can bump the temp from the comfort of my cozy warm bed without having to freeze my balls off running to the front of the RV. Pop Terry 250RKS, perfect for the two of us and the pups. I guess if you used the BT feature then you don't have to deal the touchpad. Plus the basic capacitive touch one has too many issues with it not responding to touch. The fan doesn't even kick on. And, if beyond Bluetooth range, it doesn't work from your smartphone. 12-30-2020, 07:05 AM #26 Junior Member Join Date: Sep 2019 Posts: 8 Quote: Originally Posted by cjd10 Funny you should ask. The run/start capacitor quit on my front unit and I had to replace it as well. How far will one be from the thermostat if inside an RV? I like the remote control for my TV too. I'm interested in changing the main unit to the bluetooth version, where did you find the great price on them? We'll see if they respond. I tend to agree with you about the capacitive touch, they are a little quirky, although the new touchpads that Dometic just sent me are a lot better than the ones that came with the t-stats. Wiring was exactly the same. I just increased my resale value of my motorhome by $1 maybe $2 because I have two of them. We don't have the Bluetooth version yet, but we've been wanting it forever and I'll probably do it before winter this year. Other than the touch pad and the easy to read screen with a blue light they work identical ad the OEM ones. I had the same problem when I installed them so I removed them Funny you should ask. Unfortunately the bluetooth version wasn't available at the time I changed over, but it's just a simple 3-wire hook-up on each t-stat. Has anyone found a solution for this? @cjd, my short cycles are as short as a few seconds.
